Outstanding in supervision of trainees - with clear commitment to training, and clear goal setting. Ensures trainees progress as required when working under supervision.

Clinical knowledge, skills and patient management outstanding.
Clear communication at all times with patients, colleagues and relatives - and this is clearly documented in medical notes.

Well respected senior clinician in the trust.

Had expanded the Neurosurgical Department under his leadership with the recruitment of very able new consultants

Mr Vindlacheruvu is very diligent and patient centered, with an exceptional ability to work under pressure. He always remains calm and deals with each situation quickly and effectively.
He is very approachable and supportive to all staff, with excellent communication skills his patients find him attentive and professional

An outstanding colleague .

I hope he can also make time for himself, in addition to his commitment to the unit .

Mr Vindlacheruvu is a wonderful Consultant, very thorough when assessing patients, he is highly thought of with all patients for his caring nature and great bedside manner. He puts his all into his job and will do everything he can for his patients and staff.

A very supportive clinical lead

Raghu is an approachable and collaborative colleague. He is keen to improve the neuro-oncology service and works hard to implement change.

As well being an skilful surgeon Mr Vindlacheruvu is an excellent role model for us all. He is always professional. He is a skilled communicator and excellent leader. He is approachable to all denominations of staff and keen for us all within the team to learn and develop in our own fields,

Mr V is a phenomenal trainer and head of department. Over the last 7 months, he has taught me so much; about neurosurgery, operating, leading a team, managing a department, and adapting to a pandemic, maintaining an exceptional level of care to the patients that need it most. I feel very lucky to have had this opportunity and am very grateful. If I take only a fraction of what I have learnt forward, then I will be very lucky.

An outstanding Neurosurgeon, who has steered his department to a position of strength and influence both within BHRUHT and in NE London/Essex. His expertise in neurovascular surgery is unparalleled and sought after. He is approachable and always willing to help, and I hugely value his opinion and judgement.

An excellent and supportive colleague to work with.
